

Man killed on Boschkop farm

Written by Sapa

Wednesday, 28 April 2010 09:14 -

A man in his 40s was killed on a farm in Boschkop, Pretoria on Wednesday morning, paramedics said. The farm owner was found lying in a pool of blood around 7.45am, said Netcare 911 spokesman Chris Botha. He said the man had been attacked with a sharp object.

Paramedics attempted to resuscitate him, but he died from his wounds on the scene.

Police spokeswoman Constable Sally Skoshana was unable to immediately provide further details on the incident.